
Interpretation is conditional on the observed station network; analytical zones are comparative aggregation units, not homogeneous wind−resource regions.